CPSU NSW Update: Union to meet with University over mooted changes to IT

The Community and Public Sector Union (CPSU NSW) will meet with representatives of UNSW on Wednesday, 4 December in relation mooted changes to the structure of the University's IT department.

The meeting has been scheduled in response to a dispute notification lodged by the Union on the basis the University are considering significant changes to the business unit, including possible forced redundancies, but had failed to properly consult staff.

We will provide a more detailed update following tomorrow's meeting when we have a clearer picture of UNSW's response.
