UNION

Unions are organisations that support their members on all aspects of their employment.

Without unions, you would have no weekends, paid leave or other entitlements. There would be no-one by your side negotiating better pay and conditions or supporting you if you are treated unfairly by your employer.

Unions are made up of people just like you. Their decision making is collective and democratic.

Unions campaign on issues that are important to their members such as pay increases, entitlements, health & safety and respect at work.

The PSA CPSU NSW is your union. By joining, you will have a voice and add to the collective strength of staff when the union negotiates with your employer.

As the cost of living has increased, so have your recent pay increases thanks to union negotiations on your behalf. In addition, the PSA CPSU NSW has recently won secure, permanent employment for thousands of workers stuck in insecure temporary roles.

PSA CPSU NSW members go to work knowing they have the strength of the union behind them. Their union is always there for them.

PSA CPSU NSW members work together to support each other. We have the backing of professional employment experts and even lawyers if we need them.

Be protected at work. Join your union.
